Chisholm—Equal Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — An federal appeals court Friday ordered equal time appearances on two television networks for Rep. Shirley Chisholm in her bid for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Mrs. Chisholm, the first black woman to make a presidential bid, had asked for the time to match broadcasts by the two leading Democratic presidential contenders, Sens. George McGovern and Hubert H. Humphrey.

The U.S. Circuit court here ordered that appearances by Mrs. Chisholm be provided before June 5, the day before the June 6 California presidential primary.

The three-judge court ordered the Federal Communications Commission to direct the Columbia Broadcasting System to provide a half hour of prime time.

It also directed the FCC to order the American Broadcasting Co. to include Mrs. Chisholm in its June 4 program of Issues and Answers or provide her with a half hour of prime time. Two other Democratic rivals have already been scheduled for the June 4 program.

Mrs. Chisholm was campaigning in New Jersey and could not be reached immediately for comment.

Earlier Friday, the FCC had rejected her plea, and her lawyer had made an immediate appeal to the court.

The FCC also rejected a similar bid by presidential candidate Sam Yorty, Los Angeles mayor, for equal time, but he did not join Mrs. Chisholm in the appeal.

A three-judge panel issued the ruling.

Humphrey, of Minnesota, and McGovern, of South Dakota, have appeared together on CBS and NBC broadcasts that have been popularly styled as "debates" between the two candidates.

The issue before the appeals court hinged largely on whether the appearances were debates.

If they were, parties agreed, then the federal law requiring equal time would apply.

If they were news programs which were the product of journalistic judgment exempted from the equal-time rule, then the rule would not apply.

CENTO—Rogers

LONDON (AP)—The United States urged four allied nations Friday to keep guard against any new Soviet thrusts through the Middle East and South Asia despite President Nixon's understandings with Kremlin leaders.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers also told the annual conference of the Central Treaty Organization—CENTO—that the firepower and overall quality of the U.S. naval presence in the Indian Ocean is to be improved.

A more modern flagship and two harder-hitting destroyers are to replace three older units of the U.S. Middle East naval force in the region, American officials explained.

Rogers' announcement was hailed by the British foreign secretary, Sir Alec Douglas-Home, who spoke of a general anxiety within the five-nation alliance over stepped-up Soviet naval activity in the area since 1970.

Addressing newsmen at the windup of the two-day parley of foreign ministers, Douglas-Home disclosed that the Russians currently are "showing great interest" in a submarine base building in Somalia, the strategically placed republic in the horn of Africa.

The British minister, who presided over the talks, said the five CENTO allies—Pakistan, Iran, Turkey, the United States and Britain—agreed to undertake a new assessment of the military and political situation along the northern tier of the Middle East in the light of recent Soviet advances in and around the region.

He cited Moscow's treaties with Egypt, India, Afghanistan and Iraq and its agreements to supply more arms to countries like Syria.

CENTO's area of defense responsibility stretches from Turkey in the northwest to Pakistan in the southeast.

Rogers had detached himself from Nixon's entourage in Warsaw Thursday.

Lebanon—Massacre

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — President Suleiman Franjeh of Lebanon condemned the Tel Aviv airport massacre and pledged Friday to curb Beirut-based propaganda from the guerrilla group charged with hiring the killers.

His countrymen fearful of reprisal, Franjeh said Lebanon already has done its utmost to rein in the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine but now is taking "new steps to prevent Lebanon from being regarded as the source of its propaganda."

The surviving member of the three-man Japanese killer squad that opened fire at Lod Airport Tuesday reportedly has told police he and his dead accomplices were hired by the Popular Front and trained in a guerrilla base 15 miles from Beirut.

But Lebanon's premier, Saeb Salam, told a news conference none of the Japanese killers had "ever set foot on Lebanese soil."

He disputed Israeli charges that Lebanon bears responsibility for the massacre.

"How can Lebanon be blamed when the attack was staged by foreigners who went to Israel on a foreign plane from a foreign capital?" added Franjeh in a statement issued later.

The three Japanese gunners arrived at Tel Aviv from Rome on an Air France flight originating in Paris. Their savage attack killed 24 persons and wounded about 70. Two of the three-man mission also died in the fighting.

The fears of a reprisal attack from Israel were heightened by reports of Israeli jets streaking over southern Lebanon on reconnaissance passes and of stepped-up Israeli troop movements along the border.

Security also was tightened at Beirut airport, which the Israelis attacked in 1968 to avenge a guerrilla attack on an Israeli aircraft.

In Paris, airport authorities announced all hold baggage of passengers departing from Paris will henceforth be subject to police search. All baggage of passengers for Israel will be examined. The baggage of passengers for other destinations will be subject to spot checks, the announcement said.

Get Bigger Plane, $500,000 Hijackers Strike Again

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Four hijackers claiming to have a bomb commandeered a Western Airlines jet with 98 aboard Friday night and ordered it flown to San Francisco, where Western officials met the hijackers' demands of $500,000 in cash and another jet, authorities said.

BULLETIN

RENO, Nevada — A gunman commandeered a United Airlines plane and its crew here late Friday night and demanded $250,000.

There were no passengers aboard, but approximately six crew members were held hostage as the hijacker negotiated with local authorities.

The hijackers took over the plane out of Seattle. Authorities there first said the hijackers also demanded the freedom of black militant Angela Davis. But the report of this demand was questioned by other officials.

U.S. Atty. James Browning said he was told by the Federal Aviation Administration that the hijackers were black.

Western spokesman Ken Erickson said the hijackers ordered the crew of the plane, which landed at San Francisco at 6:15 p.m. PDT, to take off again 40 minutes later and circle the airport while the money was being prepared.

The plane landed two hours later—at 8:15 p.m.—and taxied to the northeastern end of the runway, where it had previously rested.

A truck was driven out of the aircraft and a sack was transferred to the plane.

Asked if the money was on board, Erickson said, "I'm quite sure it is."

An intercontinental Boeing 720 was flown from Las Vegas to San Francisco, where it would be boarded by the hijackers and "half the passengers," Erickson said.

The plane crew reportedly told Western officials that the hijackers apparently had an eventual distant destination in mind and wanted a plane with long-range capability.

The 90 passengers aboard the plane were being given champagne through the ordeal, Western spokesman said.

In the meantime it was questioned whether the release of Angela Davis was part of the hijackers' demands. Browning said, "Originally this was listed

Charge Viet Officials Dealing In Narcotics

WASHINGTON (AP) — South Vietnam's president, former vice president and prime minister run organizations that split control of their nation's opium and heroin trade, a narcotics researcher charged in Senate testimony Friday.

The witness, Alfred W. McCoy, said South Vietnam narcotics ring has links with Corsican gangsters, with an organized crime family in Florida, and with scores of high-ranking military officers in South Vietnam, Laos, Cambodia and Thailand.

McCoy, a Ph.D. candidate in Southeast Asian history at Yale University, testified before the Senate Appropriations Committee's subcommittee on foreign operations.

He said he had spent 18 months interviewing officials in the United States, Indochina and Europe.

McCoy accused American officials of condoning and even cooperating with corrupt elements in Southeast Asia's illegal drug trade out of political and military considerations.

And he said high-ranking military and civilian officials in South Vietnam and other Indochinese countries have been involved directly in distributing heroin to GIs fighting in Vietnam and to addicts in the United States itself.

At the State Department, a spokesman said: "We are aware of these charges, but we have been unable to find any evidence to substantiate them, much less proof."

Press officer John King said the department has not read the transcript yet but he declared that the United States has been cooperating with Southeast Asian governments in an attempt "to stem the flow of narcotics."

These were McCoy's major charges:

—Heroin and opium traffic in South Vietnam is divided among the political organizations of President Nguyen Van Thieu, former Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky and Prime Minister Tran Van Kiem.

Wholesale Meat Prices Surge Higher; Unemployment Steady

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government said Friday wholesale prices of beef, pork and other farm products surged higher again last month while the unemployment rate held steady at 5.9 per cent.

Livestock prices alone went up 4.9 per cent. The increases will soon show up at supermarket meat counters, if they haven't already. The administration said it is considering letting more foreign beef into the country as a counter-measure.

Overall, the Labor Department's Wholesale Price Index rose 0.6 per cent in May, or 0.5 per cent if the normal monthly increase is discounted.

This compares with small increases of 0.1 per cent in both April and March, when food prices were falling after a three-month climb.

Less discouraging was May's increase in the industrial commodities part of the index. Wholesale prices of these goods, most of which are subject to price controls, went up 0.3 per cent unadjusted, or 0.4 per cent seasonally adjusted.

This is about the same as in March and April, but officials say it must go lower if Nixon's goal of a 2 to 3 per cent inflation rate is to be met by December.

Another Nixon goal is a jobless rate near 5 per cent by the end of the year. But May's 5.9 per cent is the same as in March and April. In fact, the rate has been hovering around 6 per cent for a year and a half.

The total number of unemployed persons was 4.3 million last month. After statistical corrections for normal seasonal variations, the Labor Department figured the number at 5.1 million, the same as the two earlier months.

Reaction to the job and price figures fell predictably along political lines. Nixon's chief economic adviser, Bert J. Stein, said they "underscore the progress that the economy has made in the past year."

AFL-CIO President George Meany said they show the administration favors corporations over people. Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien said they show Nixon's economic policies to be a "disaster."

Stein, in a briefing for newsmen, said he sees no need for significant changes in price regulations. He said the Price Commission's rules on profit margins and productivity gains will begin having more effect on prices in months to come.

But he did say the administration is considering another loosening of its import restrictions on foreign beef. He said economists had expected hog prices to rise, but were surprised when cattle prices went up as well.

However, Stein said he doubts whether foreign nations would ship enough beef here to help much.

EPA Helps Ford Get Past Legal Roadblock

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency steered Ford Motor Co. around a legal roadblock Friday that threatened to halt Ford's new-car production.

EPA Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus said he would let Ford distribute, but not sell, its 1973 cars if a short antipollution test indicates they will pass the 3½-month repeat of a test Ford did incorrectly.

The cars would be certified for sale only after they pass the full test.

At the same time, Ruckelshaus said he is checking whether any other auto makers have the same problem Ford discovered and reported last month.

Before new cars may be sold they must win federal certification, based on 50,000 miles of regulated testing, that they meet current antipollution standards.

In mid-May, Ford told EPA the tests it had submitted for its 1973 cars were done incorrectly.

Ruckelshaus said he could not certify the cars and that meant, under the 1970 Clean Air Act, they could not be shipped anywhere in interstate commerce.

Ford said if the cars piled up at the factory, it would have to shut down production, throwing as many as 450,000 people out of work at Ford and related industries.

To solve this problem, Ruckelshaus announced Friday he will give Ford cars conditional certifications if 4,000-mile tests taking 10 to 14 days indicate the cars will pass the 50,000-mile repeat tests.

The conditional certifications, he said, would allow Ford to ship its cars to dealers, but Ford would retain ownership and the cars could not be sold legally until final certification is granted.

If the cars failed to measure up to standards in the full-scale test, Ruckelshaus said, "Ford would have to modify the vehicles to make them comply or take them back from the dealers."

"The risk, therefore, is not the public's but rather Ford's," he said.

In Detroit, Ford vice president H. L. Misch said, "We have no immediate way of evaluating the effects of the Environmental Protection Agency's action and will not have until we have had a chance to discuss the matter in detail with EPA personnel."

Ruckelshaus said Ford's cars, in their original test, "received unscheduled, unauthorized, and unreported maintenance to a degree as to make this data unacceptable" for certification.

In an interview Thursday, Ruckelshaus said George V. Allen said EPA was investigating the possibility of recommending criminal prosecution against Ford or its employees in connection with the use of incorrect test procedures.

Fate Of Angela In Hands Of Jury

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — The Angela Davis trial judge placed her murder-kidnap-conspiracy case in the hands of jurors Friday, asking them to reach "a just verdict, regardless of what the consequences of that verdict may be."

The seven men and five women chosen as jurors 14 weeks ago listened intently as Superior Court Judge Richard E. Aronson instructed them in law, then ordered them to begin deliberations.

Miss Davis, 28, a brightly colored striped shawl about her shoulders, kept her eyes on the judge as he outlined possible verdicts.

Her father, brothers and sister-in-law were in court as the jury got the case which began nearly two years ago on Aug. 7, 1970, when a judge and three abductors were slain in a Marin County Courthouse invasion. Miss Davis wasn't there, but her guns were found at the scene and she soon was charged. The state claimed she plotted the invasion and was just as guilty as those there.

The judge gave jurors 11 possible verdicts which could be used in numerous possible combinations. They must bring in separate verdicts on the three counts of murder, kidnap and conspiracy.

Although Miss Davis, a former UCLA philosophy instructor, is charged with first-degree murder, Aronson gave jurors the option to consider lesser offenses—second-degree murder, voluntary manslaughter and involuntary manslaughter.

However, he concentrated most of his instructions on the most complex charge against Miss Davis—conspiracy.

He interrupted his instructions to have the court clerk read to the jurors the conspiracy charge in Miss Davis' grand jury indictment—a lengthy count which charges 12 charged overt acts which could point toward conspiracy "if so interpreted by jurors."

Nation's Birth Rate Continues Decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's birth rate fell to the lowest in history in the first three months of 1972, continuing a dramatic decline that began last year, the government said Friday.

The drop pushed the nation close to a rate of birth that would be needed to bring about eventual zero growth of the population.

According to the National Center for Health Statistics, the birth rate was 15.8 children per 1,000 population in the first quarter of the year compared with 17.6 per 1,000 for a similar period last year and 17.3 for all of 1971.

This meant that the estimated average number of children of women in the child-bearing ages declined to 2.145 in the first quarter compared with 2.284 for all of 1971, the Census Bureau said.

Population experts figure that if women have an average family size of 2.11 children during their lifetimes, the nation will reach zero population growth within 40 to 50 years, excluding immigration.

In 1970, the average family size was about 2.4 children, well above the rate needed to reach eventual zero growth. Census experts expected the birth rate to go up, but the decline, and especially the extent of it, has been "considerably surprising."

Privately, census specialists point to a number of reasons, saying that increased socialization of abortion laws has had some effect on the drop in birth rate. But even some states with restrictive abortion laws also experienced a decline in the birth rate.

Specialists say that economic factors also are probably one of the prime causes. They point to the 1969-1970 slowdown in a time when many well-to-do people were put out of work because of the recession.

Previously the lowest birth rates had been during the depression.

Population experts have figures to back up these reasons for the birth rate drop. They say that the change in styles, although hard to measure, undoubtedly is making an impact.

The number of births in the nation had been expected to rise markedly in the future because of the large number of prime childbearing women at first, census experts

Moscow Evaluation:

Summit Can Be Century-Mark

In the short space of three months, the world has moved closer to real peace than it has been at any time since the end of World War II.

Certainly it is a much safer world than it has been in all those years—perhaps in all this century—thanks to President Nixon's historic missions to Peking and Moscow. The dark, radioactive cloud that has hovered over mankind has been pierced by rays of genuine hope and we begin to glimpse those "sunlit uplands" of harmony and progress Winston Churchill once envisioned.

True, the accords and understandings reached with the leaders of China and Russia are based in great part on mutual fear. There is still lingering distrust. The ideological rivalry between East and West—and between East and East—remains unabated.

But what prevails now is more than just the absence of war, or preparation for war. If these accords are built upon and expanded in coming months and years, particularly the unprecedented joint "Declaration of Principles" signed by President Nixon and Secretary Brezhnev, they could usher in the generation of true peace the President earnestly desires to leave as his legacy.

Having said all this, however, there were fundamental differences between the events in Peking in March and those just concluded at the summit in Moscow.

The President's China visit was in the nature of the opening of a door that had been solidly closed for 22 years. The record of United States-Soviet co-operation, on the other hand, is of long standing, covering a range of subjects from cultural exchanges to treaties guaranteeing the peaceful, scientific exploration of Antarctica and the moon.

In this respect, the series of new agreements signed in Moscow—on cancer research, combined activities in space, rules governing warship encounters at sea—were merely extensions of that co-operation, though there was drama in the rapid-fire order of their announcement.

What merits the description "historic," what constitutes a true turning point, is the nuclear arms limitation treaty, a bewilderingly complex formula which must be ratified by the U.S. Senate and which will undoubtedly become embroiled in partisan controversy when hearings on it begin.

Although more than two years of SALT talks in Helsinki and Vienna led up to the treaty, much hard bargaining was necessary during the final hours in the Kremlin. At one point it was feared the President would have to leave Russia with the most important goal of his trip unrealized.

There were, in fact, at least two disappointments—the failure to reach an agreement on trade and the unwillingness of the President's hosts to allow him to be seen by ordinary Russians from closer than a city block's distance.

But in the one case, a U.S.-U.S.S.R. Commercial Commission was established and charged with responsibility for negotiating a broad-range trade pact, as well as studying the possibility of joint development of Russia's vast Siberian storehouse; and in the other, the President spoke directly to an estimated 100 million Russians via television.

By almost any criterion, from either the Russian or American viewpoint, the President's visit to Moscow was highly successful, eminently worthwhile. We understand now why both countries were determined to let nothing prevent it, not even the alarming step-up of the war in Vietnam in recent weeks.

That this war could continue, that Russian and Chinese arms could be opposed to American arms in bloody battle in that unhappy land even as toasts were drunk, first in Peking and then in Moscow, indicates how far we have yet to go to reach those sunlit uplands of human history.

By JOHN RODERICK
Associated Press Writer
TOKYO (AP) — In the new world of complex international relationships, following the Peking and Moscow summits, the great imponderable is Japan. President Nixon has hammered out agreements with

China and the Soviet Union which it is hoped will draw the United States closer to these ideologically opposite nations. The idea of peaceful coexistence with Japan seems to be something else. The way things are between Tokyo and Washington these days, it looks as if it would take another summit meeting—in Tokyo—to reestablish relations on their old-time basis. Even if that were under consideration, Nixon's security people probably would veto it. Japanese leftist extremists are determined, inventive, violence-prone and contemptuous of human life, their own as well as others. The massacre of civilians carried out by Japanese gunmen in Tel Aviv this week illustrates the danger to which Nixon might be exposed.

So the painstaking efforts of the Nixon administration to iron out the wrinkles in U.S.-Japan affairs will be carried out at lower levels. Henry A. Kissinger is scheduled to come here soon after two earlier postponements—to try his hand. It remains to be seen if he can resolve the problems which mar the dialogue between the two once staunchly friendly countries.

These include U.S. trade and currency restrictions, hurt feelings over Nixon's failure to consult with Tokyo over the drastic U.S. change in China policy, and American insistence that Japan shoulder more of its own defense burden.

The Japanese have yet to come to grips with the new internationalism forged by the twin summits.

Their most immediate challenge is an improvement in relations with Peking. Tokyo seems to lack any clear idea what to do. Its dilemma centers around Chinese refusal to talk with Prime Minister Eisaku Sato.

He steps down soon, perhaps in mid-July. But neither of the two leading contenders for the succession—Takeo Fukuda or Kakuei Tanaka—promises to make a bold break in policy.

Once Japan recognizes Peking it will automatically have a freer hand to maneuver within the framework of the new multipolar order in the Pacific. Everything hinges on how, when and to what extent Japan fits into the new diplomacy. If it finds itself left out in the cold, relegated to a minor role, or once more snubbed by its old ally, not even the pacifism of postwar Japanese would bar the way to some kind of rearming.

The third-most powerful nation in the world economically, it has the men, the materials and the know-how to catch up with its militarily more advanced neighbors.

California June 6:

McGovern A Mite Ahead, But Edgy

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
LOS ANGELES (NEA) — The key battleground in the June 6 California primary is this city's sprawling stretch of blue-collar suburbs where alienation from "the system" grades into bitterness.

It is there, and in somewhat similar territory in the fertile San Joaquin Valley, that the struggle between Sens. George McGovern and Hubert Humphrey for California's 271 convention delegate votes should be settled.

For this critical bloc of Democratic voters, the best private polling evidence suggests the decision will be largely a choice among negatives. Says one skilled polling analyst:

"Those people really don't like anybody who's running in this state. Their real choice is George Wallace."

Wallace, of course, lies in a Maryland hospital, partly paralyzed from gunshot wounds. A limited write-in campaign, under way in these final days, might produce surprising results—but nothing like he might have achieved with a personal on-scene effort.

Careful soundings disclose, meantime, that McGovern is the second choice of two out of every three potential Wallace voters. Protest continues to be the mood of the electorate in 1972, and McGovern and Wallace clearly are seen as the champions of protest.

For Humphrey, it is uphill all the way in the land of working class disenchantment. Too often, he is perceived as the very symbol of the discredited political past, the insistent reminder of so many things that turn off the 1972 voter—a drawn-out war, a stuttering economy, smothering taxes, a long string of broken political promises.

So far, the celebrated Humphrey-McGovern television debates appear not to have altered the basic image contrasts between the two contenders.

Two different sets of polls give McGovern the statewide edge by a range of four to six points. He is riding a climbing chart line that took off for him two months ago in Wisconsin.

Yet his coolest consultants retain their fears of upset: The blue-collar battleground is seen as populated with voters who are essentially rootless, volatile in mood, floating in a kind of haze the poll-taker finds it hard to penetrate. There's a nagging feeling they could turn around in a flash. When just eight days of the campaign remained, one McGovern aide remarked:

"I wish we didn't have this evident lead this early. I'm afraid something might happen."

McGovern is considered to have his strong base in the populous San Francisco Bay area, to be making some inroads into Humphrey's strength with the influential Jewish community in Los Angeles, and to have much the stronger shot—at this moment in a setting where evidence ages quickly—with the blue-collar legions.

But still the doubts are there. Devoted aides think he hasn't broadened his vote base enough. They say Humphrey may be convincing many Californians McGovern's proposed defense cuts could cost more jobs in a job-starved state, and that the South Dakota's plan to scrap welfare and give all citizens a money grant may get mired in confusion skillfully spurred by Humphrey.

McGovern could win nicely, but it's a nail biter.

Ann Landers:

Help Is Where You Find It

Dear Ann Landers: This is an answer to "Swinger's Wife." Some people are totally incapable of establishing permanent relationships, because when they were growing up, every one they became attached to betrayed them, moved away or died. As an adult, the Swinger still needs love but he is afraid to allow himself to fall in love because he is terrified of being hurt again. He cannot handle relationships, such as marriage or fatherhood, so he seeks out someone like himself, someone who will settle for a superficial, hit-and-run encounter.

If, in a moment of weakness, The Swinger does decide to marry, he makes a very poor husband and an inadequate father. Invariably he visits misery on everyone whose life he touches.

The only answer is Jesus Christ. I know this is true because I have tried everything else and nothing worked. The day I found Him my life changed.

In all the years I have been reading your column you have never once suggested Jesus Christ as the solution to a problem. Surely I am not the first person who has written to you along these lines. Even though you might not agree that Jesus is the greatest healer of all you should print a letter which mentions Him as a possibility. Please show the proper ecumenical spirit.—A Believer

Dear Believer: Never let it be said that I failed to show the proper ecumenical spirit. Here is your letter and my thanks for writing it. If Jesus provided the answer for you, I say, "Wonderful!" Help is where you find it.

Dear Ann Landers: Two years ago my husband died and left me well fixed. The family home had been an important part of my life for 30 years and I decided not to move. Two of my children begged me to live with them but I refused. My youngest daughter, with whom I have a very good relationship, said, "If you won't come and live with us, how would you like US to come and live with YOU?" I said, "I'd love it!" So they moved in eight months ago with their 15-year-old daughter.

The question I am writing about may seem ridiculous but I'd like an answer. My granddaughter and her boyfriend talk on the phone three times a day. They go to the same school and walk home together. They usually stand in front of the house and visit for half an hour. As soon as he gets home he calls her up. They talk for about 20 minutes. Immediately after supper she telephones him. This conversation lasts about half an hour. At ten o'clock on the dot he calls her "to say good-night." That conversation goes on for about 30 minutes.

I am very fond of my granddaughter. The young man is attractive and well-behaved. I am not being critical. I had lots of beaux when I was young—but what I'd like to know is what in the world do these kids talk about. Thank you, Ann.—Baffled Gram

Dear Gram: Don't you remember?

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is a heavy drinker. He refuses to admit that he cannot handle his liquor. In the past year he has had three car accidents. The first two were minor but the last one was serious. He nearly died to death. My nerves are shot because I don't know what will happen to him the next time. Will you please tell me how to help this man of mine?—Hell in Hanover

Dear H. H.: I know of no way to help an alcoholic who refuses to admit he has a problem. Your husband is trying to kill himself. He's using a bottle instead of a gun. Write to Al-Anon and get some help for yourself.

Law For Today

Q. I have been working as a secretary for over two years without a vacation. As I will be quitting this job in a few months, I wonder if I am legally entitled to a paid vacation.

A. No. There is no state or federal law obligating an employer to provide paid vacations. An employee would be legally entitled to a vacation with pay, or cash in lieu thereof, only if these were guaranteed to him by a union contract or private agreement with the employer. Keep this in mind for your next job.

"Mayfly," of rare old age, once a fast steed, and for a long time the property of Hon. Wm. P. Barr, laid down, a day or two since, and died. She was about twenty years old, and had done good service in her time.

The picnic at Mr. John Prunty's, Cass county, is talked of for Tuesday of next week. Large numbers from this city propose to attend. They will go by rail and alight at Mr. Prunty's residence.

Communication

To the Editor:

I am afraid I do not agree with your view on gun control. I think too much emphasis is being put on controlling firearms. I would also like to comment on your editorial of May 30, "A Feeble Argument."

In this editorial you jokingly referred to the National Rifle Association's contention that gun control could lead to the loss of our "right to keep and bear arms." The fact is: there are bills, before the House of Representatives and U.S. Senate committees, calling for complete confiscation of firearms. Some anti-gun advocates are pushing these bills and this is one of the reasons for the N.R.A.'s argument. As far as gun control goes, we have had this, in the form of the 1968 Federal Gun Control Act, for the last four years with crimes and shootings still increasing. I think that this is proof enough to show that gun control is not the answer. Governor Wallace himself stated, after he had been shot, that he was still against more stringent gun control.

I think one thing we should look at is stiffer penalties for crimes in which guns are used. Let's place some of the burden on the criminal instead of the average citizen who hunts or collects guns for a hobby.

YOUR BIRTHDAY AND HOROSCOPE

By STELLA WILDER

SATURDAY, JUNE 3—Born today, you have been gifted with an exceptional feeling for the dramatic—which means, of course, that you find even in the most mundane sort of activity or idea much that is exciting, even inspiring. Never bored, never at loose ends, you always have some endeavor under way. Some enterprise waiting in the wings. Even during times which would prove disappointing or discouraging to others, you are able to find enough to interest you so that you are uplifted spiritually and enabled to continue enjoying whatever life brings.

Charming and highly persuasive, you sometimes actually have difficulty keeping away from you the favors of people you don't especially wish to be associated with. While others scour the countryside seeking support for their various enterprises, you have to keep your projects semi-secret and practically go into hiding to keep an excess of supporters from overpowering the enterprise. You, of course, enjoy being sought after—but even in such a good thing, enough is enough. Bound to family and friends by strong emotional and intellectual ties, you are not one to isolate yourself from people purposely. You enjoy tremendously the give and take involved in a satisfactory personal relationship and, whether the recipient of your affection and attention is young or old, of your own or the opposite sex, you are always able through your own personality to please—and be pleased.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Sunday, June 4
GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—The solution to your family problem emerges today from a completely unexpected source. Don't be afraid to apply present knowledge to another's need.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—social activities are highly favored this afternoon. Don't be too sure of being able to persuade another to your way of thinking.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Late-in-the-day meeting with an old friend brings meeting with an old friend. Morning worship aids your mood, makes a calm day possible.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Make good connections with those who have promised to be of help to you in your present efforts to improve relationships with family members.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Group activities serve you better than any individual endeavor could at the present time. Keep a new idea to yourself for the time being.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Discretion is required of Scorpio today if he is to succeed in being a hero to his own family. Protect your image, especially in afternoon.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—If you would keep from attracting attention to your most recent activities, you would be wise to lose yourself in group enterprise.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)—Check accounts today. Though Sunday, you may be required to work hard and long in the interests of your career. Consider further study.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—The wise Aquarius will take delays without a whimper. You should be able to accomplish your goals in spite of a late start.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21)—Whatever arrangements you make for the care and feeding of pets, children, or partners should prove reasonable—if you consider individual needs.

ARIES (March 22-April 20)—Take care that in verbalizing your concern for family members in minor difficulties, you don't offer services you can ill afford to grant.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—Church attendance is important if you intend to make yourself more spiritually aware of what is going on around you. Turn your attention inward.

U.S. Pilots Score 8-To-1 Over Red Fliers

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. fighter pilots have scored better than 8 to 1 over North Vietnamese fliers in air combat this year.

Pentagon charts list 34 North Vietnamese MIG jet fighters downed in air duels since Jan. 1. Four U.S. planes have been shot down by MIGs.

Most of these kills have come since the United States resumed heavy bombing of North Vietnam in April.

This record is a turnaround from the late stages of the 1965-68 air war against the North when the fighter score was nearly even and, for a time, North Vietnamese MIGs out-killed American jets.

Many of the U.S. planes that attacked North Vietnam in the late 1960s were Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs, so awkward to maneuver when bomb-loaded that they were derided with the nickname "Thud."

Veterans of the air war said the F105s often flew northward without escort in those days, and MIGs caught some of them in a virtually helpless position before the F105s could pull out of their bomb runs.

Now, however, the F105 is out of the air war except for a small number of Thunderchiefs specially equipped with electronic-warfare gear for use against North Vietnamese surface-to-air missile sites and radar.

In the current air campaign against the North, much of the work is being done by agile F4 Phantom jets. U.S. Air Force and Navy planes on bombing missions over North Vietnam are escorted by fighters virtually all the time, officials said.

Over-all, the United States has lost about 35 planes over North Vietnam this year, mostly from anti-aircraft-artillery fire. This compares with 44 to 46 MIGs lost, counting two dropped by naval anti-aircraft weapons and 8 to 10 destroyed on the ground.

THE DOCTOR SAYS
Vibrator Won't Aid Weight Loss

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.
Dear Dr. Lamb—I have read somewhere that it is dangerous to sit too close to the TV and I am concerned because my grandchildren constantly sit in front of the TV set. Is this hard on their eyes?
Dear Reader—The American Optometric Assn. recently published a little pamphlet on this and they point out that under proper conditions the TV isn't as much a strain on the eyes as close work such as reading or sewing. Further they state it doesn't hurt the child to sit up close, but he will be better off sitting at a distance of at least five times the width of the screen. This provides a sharper and better defined picture. Normal room lighting and avoiding glare is all right for the lighting conditions and it is good to have the television set in direct line with the sight to prevent assuming uncomfortable body positions which can be tiring. Children who persist in sitting up close to the TV set are sometimes near-sighted and probably need an eye examination.

There has been at least one well-documented bad effect from children watching TV and that is in the children who do it persistently eliminating normal physical activity and play. They become so inactive that they get weak and their muscles tire easily and they experience a constant sensation of fatigue, just like the office worker who doesn't get any physical activity. Children who have headaches and excessive fatigue were found to have the TV problem—too much TV and not enough physical activity. The treatment for that is fairly obvious.

Dear Dr. Lamb—All I need to lose is about seven or eight pounds. It seems I can't do that even with watching what I eat. I never eat sweets or use sugar in my tea or coffee. I have been told that a belt vibrator will give me enough exercise to use up the calories I take in. Could you tell me how many calories a day I would burn up with about 20 minutes on the best vibrator.

Dear Reader—Your will be lucky if you burn up any calories on the vibrator. The only

If you want to overbid, it behooves you to play the dummy very well and it also helps a lot if you can get your opponents to cooperate with you.

Here is a hand played by Mike Lawrence in the 1970 world championship. His two-heart overcall was nothing to sing songs about, but he still continued to game after Bob Hammann raised him to three.

West opened the queen of spades. East took his ace and led a small spade back. Mike was delighted to find his king holding but things didn't look at all good. He had lost one trick and still had two diamonds and a club to lose, not to mention the possibility of the queen of hearts scoring against him.

He needed a lot of luck plus a mistake and it all worked out. He led a trump to dummy's king and played the three of clubs. East thought and thought and thought and finally came to the conclusion that Mike was trying to sneak a trick with the singleton king. He went up with the ace of clubs and might have beaten the hand by shifting to a diamond, but he chose to lead the jack of spades in hopes of developing a trump trick.

Mike ruffed and when West failed to overruff, Mike's troubles were over. He took his king of clubs, led a diamond to dummy's ace, discarded one losing diamond on the queen of clubs, led trumps and conceded a diamond trick at the end.

Social Center Of U.S. Life

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. business office used to be a place of work only. Today it has become pretty much the social center of American life.

As many a boss is aware, getting a job done is only a dim problem in the back of many a worker's head when he gets up in the morning and comes to his home away from home—the office.

In some ways he finds his office more relaxing than his home, because he has fewer responsibilities there, and isn't annoyed by such intruding inconveniences as a frowny wife and noisy dullard children. Millions of American working husbands and wives symbolically run away from home every day now. They go to the office.

Why? Because that's where the real fun is. That's where life can be lived to the hilt.

A business office is still reckoned as a market place. But that is only one of the functions it served. It is also a restaurant, a beauty parlor, a recreation area, an entertainment complex, a barbershop, a church, a gymnasium, a forum, and a passion pit where there is more hanky panky going on than at the average drive-in theater.

You go into the conference room, and what is going on there? The group may be considering raising or lowering the price of a product. It is more likely, on the other hand, to be arguing over whether management should be asked to change the color and design of the drapes.

You go up to any desk at random, and what is happening? The man may be writing a business memo. He could also be calling his girl friend, taking a nap, or even selling Christmas cards or real estate on the side.

You go into the men's washroom, and what do you see? You see two office boys giving each other a haircut, three guys hiding out with hangovers, and a senior vice president washing the drip-dry shirt he plans to wear that evening.

There is a small morning prayer meeting going on in the cafeteria, but what is going on in the ladies' room a mere male can only guess.

And what is going on in the stockroom? Here modesty must draw a curtain where there is none. An orgy is an orgy is an orgy.

Doesn't anybody ever do anything around here?" groans the boss, after an inspection tour. He retreats to his own sanctum and reaches for a golf club. Where else can he get in the practice to keep his putting game in shape?

The question again arises. How does a modern U.S. office business office get any business done? God only knows.

Betty Canary Mothers, 'To Love Is To Listen'

Lately I've thought so much of things parents do not like to hear that I almost forgot a quotation I have on my bulletin board. It was put there long ago to remind me that while there are noises and sounds that offend or amaze me, there are also other sounds.

Paul Tillich said, "To love is to listen." I find listening is difficult sometimes.

If I am hurriedly trying to finish a job while a child is underfoot trying to tell me the latest news from fifth grade, I usually don't listen. I usually find myself putting him off with an "Um-hmmmm—now, out of my way until I'm finished!"

Most of us find it so easy to put off our listening. It's usually for such a good reason, too. We

But, after coming in from the market, there's dinner to prepare. And after dinner we get a telephone call. Somehow the right time is never.

Sometimes, to love means listening to what a person is definitely not saying. Knowing that "I have a terrible headache!" means "My best friend has utterly betrayed me." Or, that a husband's constant complaints about his boss really translate into a desire to go back to graduate school.

It's obvious a woman can't sit still, mopping up every vague comment like a sponge. Laundry wouldn't be done and hospitals would be without volunteer workers. But, putting down a measuring spoon at just the right time or postponing a shopping trip or telephone call can pay the dividends of a lifetime.

DEVELOPED A CALENDAR

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — The New Mexico Department of Development was in a daze over its days on the 1972 calendar.

The department's official state calendar had 31 days in April.

The same calendar showed Mother's Day to be on Saturday, May 13, instead of its usual Sunday place—May 14.

And, the calendar said the Santa Fe Downs horse racing season would open May 13. The track said it would open May 19.

STEALING IS, TOO WASHINGTON (AP) — A $10 bill autographed by President Nixon recently was stolen from the Cheverly, Md., residence of U.S. Rep. Manuel Lujan Jr., R-N.M.

Lujan received the bill on March 10, 1971, when he presented the President with the first ticket to the opening game of the Babe Ruth Baseball League World Series held in Albuquerque in August 1971.

Nixon insisted on paying for the ticket. He borrowed $10 from an aide, John Nidecker.

Lujan asked him to autograph the bill and the president did with a comment, "This is illegal, you know."

Nixon Briefs Leaders On His Summit Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration and congressional leaders, after a White House briefing Friday, predicted quick consideration and ultimate ratification of the arms limitation agreements with the Soviet Union.

President Nixon personally briefed a bipartisan group of 30 House and Senate leaders on the treaty limiting defensive antiballistic missiles—ABMs—and an executive agreement curbing offensive missiles.

Nixon spoke for 45 minutes and was followed by Henry Kissinger, presidential foreign affairs adviser, and then a question-and-answer session with the congressmen.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate majority leader, called it an "excellent" briefing and said it did more than Nixon's speech to a joint session of Congress Thursday night to convince him of the merit of the agreements.

Ronald L. Ziegler, White House press secretary, said he expected the agreements to be sent to Congress in about a week and said the mood of the Friday-morning meeting indicated the lawmakers wanted to begin consideration quickly.

Mansfield and Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania both said they expected to receive the proposals formally next week with passage expected this summer or by early fall at the latest.

The ABM treaty requires ratification by two-thirds of the Senate. The accompanying executive agreement on offensive missiles can pass with a majority of the Senate and House.

"The President indicated that it is now Congress' responsibility to review carefully and ratify the treaties," Ziegler said. "The United States is then prepared to move into the second phase of the arms limitation discussions with the Soviet Union."

Scott said plans are being made for resumption of the SALT talks "this summer," pending approval of the agreements already reached, to explore possible agreement on actual reduction of armaments as opposed to mere limitation as provided by the current accords.

Ziegler said there were "no misgivings" as such stated in the meeting by the Congressional leaders.

Ziegler said the President told the leaders, as he had in his Thursday night speech, that there was extensive discussion with Soviet leaders on the Vietnam war and the Middle East. But Ziegler said Nixon did not reveal any details of the discussions.

Scott said Nixon told the group that Vietnam was discussed at great length, that there was a divergence of opinion, that "both sides want peace in Indochina and let's see what happens."

But Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, who was not invited to the briefing, said he was curious about Nixon's reference to the talks on Vietnam.

"There was an implication they might have been fruitful in some way he didn't disclose," Muskie said.

Mansfield said Nixon assured the leaders that no secret understandings have been reached with the Soviets. But he said there are "interpretations" on various points of agreement which, in cooperation with the Soviets, are "being looked into."

Huge Armada Saves Downed U.S. Airman

SAIGON (AP) — A huge U.S. Air Force rescue armada plucked a downed airman from deep behind enemy lines northwest of Hanoi, spokesmen disclosed Saturday. The airman had spent 23 days evading North Vietnamese forces and lost 15 pounds during his ordeal.

He was rescued Friday. Between 30 to 40 Air Force planes and helicopters flew through heavy North Vietnamese fire to lift Capt. Roger C. Locher, 28, of Sabathia, Kan., out of the steep mountain terrain at about noon.

"I was never so happy in my life as when I hooked myself to the rescue cable and they hoisted me up to the big Jolly Green Giant chopper," Locher said.

Locher's F4 Phantom was shot down May 10 on his 407th combat mission. He had been credited with shooting down three North Vietnamese MIG interceptors. The second crewman aboard the F4 still is missing.

Despite his weight loss, the Air Force said Locher was otherwise in "excellent condition."

McGovern, Humphrey Concerned By Poll

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sens. George McGovern and Hubert H. Humphrey both expressed concern Friday about the effect of a poll showing McGovern far ahead for next Tuesday's California presidential primary. McGovern warned against overconfidence, and Humphrey called the poll totally inaccurate.

McGovern also received the endorsements of two top New York City regular Democratic leaders and called them an "elegant rebuttal" to claims that he can't win the party.

Humphrey declared he would stay in the race regardless of whether he wins in California. Humphrey said he refused to accept an accurate new California Poll showing McGovern with a 20 percentage point lead going into Tuesday's balloting for the state's 271 national convention delegates.

But Humphrey said, "If I lose this one, it will just mean I'll have to work that much harder. I have no intention of folding up my tent if we should lose here."

Humphrey led the poll a month earlier, 35-31. McGovern said only overconfidence can keep him from winning a decisive California victory over Humphrey.

Meade Esposito, the regular Democratic leader of Brooklyn, the Bronx leader, declared at a news conference their backing for McGovern. In both New York counties, McGovern delegates had challenged uncommitted regular Democrats backed by the county leaders.

Answering questions on a television talk show, Humphrey called "unrealistic" the shift in the McGovern-Humphrey standings.

The independent poll released Thursday rated McGovern at 40 per cent, Humphrey at 26, and Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, a write-in contender not on the ballot, third at 8 per cent.

Humphrey said he was counting on next Sunday's final nationally televised joint appearance with McGovern to bring him back strongly in the race.

"We will have a few things to unload in that session," Humphrey said. He would not say what.

New York has 275 delegates to the national convention. All but 40 of them will be elected in the June 20 primary.

McGovern states are unopposed for nearly 100. His supporters declare they expect the South Dakota senator will win well over 200.

McGovern said the Esposito and Cunningham endorsements may also help in next Tuesday's New Jersey primary. He said he expects to win a considerable share of New Jersey's 105 delegates.

With four days left before the California voting, Humphrey concentrated his effort Friday in meetings with labor leaders and union members.

In a prepared talk he said of McGovern:

"I say he is a false friend of the millions of working families in this state."

He said McGovern's Senate record showed votes against unemployment compensation, civil rights, organized labor and tax reform.

McGovern told his news conference that the California returns will show "we've made a breakthrough" in all groups—blacks; blue and white collar workers and others.

"We ought to be able to lay to rest this notion that my strength is only concentrated among a few teenagers," he declared.

He then headed for a rally at the College of San Mateo south of San Francisco.

Meanwhile, Charles Snider, Wallace's campaign director, told a Los Angeles news conference the Alabama governor wants to convey "how important a big write-in vote in California is."

George Wallace Jr., the governor's 20-year-old son, appeared with Snider and said, "A lot of young people now will listen objectively" to his father.

He said the governor, partially paralyzed by an assassination attempt, is determined to walk again.

Daley-Backed Candidates Win Six Delegate Spots

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Candidates backed by Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago captured six of 10 at-large seats on the Illinois delegation to the Democratic National Convention Friday.

Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine, however, garnered three additional seats and Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota picked up one as the 160 delegates, selected in the March 21 primary, chose their at-large members.

Muskie supporters had hoped to pick up at least four new delegates and McGovern delegates had expected to win an additional two seats.

Daley, who opened the delegate meeting by promising this would be "an honest election," used the session to lambast the news media and independents attempting to challenge Chicago delegates because of the way they had been selected to run in the primary.

"We (delegates in Chicago) were selected by the people and we don't walk out," Daley declared.

The mayor added, "The people have a right to elect a Pole or a black man or a white man or a Spaniard or anybody else and after they vote who is going to challenge the right of these people to serve in a duly democratic convention?"

The at-large delegates reflected the 160-member delegation elected in the primary. Elected March 21 were 88 uncommitted delegates, 59 supporting Muskie and 13 backing McGovern.

The 10 new members included two blacks—Myrtle Dunn, a McGovern delegate from Robbins, and Joseph Bertrand, an uncommitted delegate who is the city treasurer of Chicago.

U.S. Sen. Adlai Stevenson III led the three Muskie at-large delegates. Stevenson was the first major Illinois politician to endorse Muskie for president.

The other two Muskie delegates were Robert Wallace, vice chairman of the Exchange National Bank in Chicago and former assistant secretary of the treasury under President Kennedy and Nina Shepherd, 34, a housewife from Winnetka.

The uncommitted at-large delegates in addition to Bertrand were:

Michael J. Bakalis, state superintendent of public instruction; Clyde Choate of Anna, Illinois House minority leader; Alvin Fields Sr., former mayor of East St. Louis and a longtime Democratic party figure, and Michael Howlett, state auditor.

All of the uncommitted delegates except Bakalis, who at 34 is the youngest of the at-large selection, are considered to have close ties with Daley.

Several well-known names in Illinois politics—including the Rev. Jesse Jackson, the Chicago civil rights leader and Jacob Arvey, a Democratic national committeeman—called to win a delegate spot.

Among the delegates were John Touhy, former speaker of the House and now a member of the Cook County board, and Lt. Gov. Paul Simon, who lost his bid for the gubernatorial nomination on March 21.

Stevenson backed the delegate winners with 108 votes while Choate had 133 and both Mrs. Dunn and Mrs. Shepherd had 132. The high vote total indicated that the McGovern delegates voted in unison for Mrs. Dunn and Muskie delegates joined to elect Stevenson.

In his address at the opening of the meeting, Daley renewed charges that radical dissidents caused the 1968 Democratic convention disorders and that the mass media "played a hoax" on the public in their reporting.

"The same faces that framed the conspiracy in 1968 are at work in 1972," Daley said, alluding both to the news media and to delegate challengers, "and you people who don't think there was a conspiracy had better get out of bed."

Independent Democrats in Chicago have challenged the election of the 59 uncommitted delegates—including Daley—because, they say, the delegates were not selected as candidates in an open caucus according to party rules. Among the challengers is Rev. Jackson.

Independent Democrats in Chicago have challenged the election of the 59 uncommitted delegates—including Daley—because, they say, the delegates were not selected as candidates in an open caucus according to party rules. Among the challengers is Rev. Jackson.

In his address at the opening of the meeting, Daley renewed charges that radical dissidents caused the 1968 Democratic convention disorders and that the mass media "played a hoax" on the public in their reporting.

"The same faces that framed the conspiracy in 1968 are at work in 1972," Daley said, alluding both to the news media and to delegate challengers, "and you people who don't think there was a conspiracy had better get out of bed."

"As to this defendant," said the judge, "you must decide whether she was a conspirator, whether she joined willfully and knowingly in a conspiracy."

With Miss Davis absent from the crime scene, it appeared unlikely the jury could decide the murder and kidnap counts before first deciding on conspiracy. However, the judge did not make this a prerequisite. He said that each count must be decided separately.

The state has contended that Miss Davis, a black militant and Communist party member, conspired with Jonathan Jackson, 17, and others unnamed in the indictment to take hostages at the Marin courthouse, then seek to exchange them for the freedom of Jackson's convict brother, George, whom Miss Davis loved. The defense described the state's case as "a gigantic hoax" and said its admittedly circumstantial evidence had not proven any connection between Miss Davis and the Marin violence.

A key point in the conspiracy charge was whether Miss Davis knowingly furnished her guns to Jonathan Jackson for the shootings.

The judge explained in detail the legal aspects of circumstantial evidence—notably that if any piece of such evidence is susceptible to two interpretations, one which points to innocence and one to guilt, jurors are duty bound to accept the one pointing toward innocence.

He asked jurors to carefully consider whether they "have reasonable doubt" of Miss Davis' guilt—"the kind of doubt that would make a reasonable person unwilling to act." He added that the defendant must never be convicted because of "speculation or conjecture."

The judge ordered the jury sequestered in a motel near the courthouse when not deliberating.

As the jury began deliberating, 25 of Miss Davis' supporters gathered on the courthouse lawn to begin what they said would be a 12-hour-a-day vigil. They were led by the Rev. Cecil Williams, pastor of Gilde Memorial Methodist Church in San Francisco and Miss Davis' spiritual adviser.

The members of the vigil—both black and white—sat in a circle on the lawn and spoke to spectators of their hope for Miss Davis' acquittal.

Niles West 4-3 Illinois Champ

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Junior Bob Camras singled home the winning run in the bottom of the second extra inning Friday night to give Niles West a 4-3 victory over Alton and the Illinois State High School baseball championship.

The Niles Indians of suburban Chicago, 1984 state runners-up, closed out with a 20-9 record on Camras' single, which brought home Jim Abrahamson with the deciding run in the ninth inning.

Abrahamson, a senior who smashed a 345-foot home run in the second inning—the only homer of the tournament—led off the ninth with a single and stole second. He scored from there on Camras' sharp single to right.

Alton's Redbirds, striving to become the first team in Southern Illinois to win the pennant since Belleville in 1954, finished with an 18-7 mark. The Birds packed all three of their runs in the third inning when Bob Meyers and Bob Hansberry singled and Mike Rahner tripled them home. It was Rahner's third triple of the tourney, a record.

He scored on a single by Randy Shearburn. The Indians tallied a run in the first inning, produced by a single by Blake Lorenz, added another on Abrahamson's homer in the second, and tied the score 3-3 in the fourth when Abrahamson walked, took second as Kent McGuire was out stealing third and tallied on a single by Scott Zolke.

The score remained locked until Camras delivered the winning blow in the ninth.

Barry Mueller, senior left hander, picked up his 11th triumph without defeat with a scattering of nine hits and 11 strikeouts. Hansberry, 3-2, was the loser, yielding eight hits. It was the first championship game played at night since 1957 and drew 3400 fans at Mienen Field.

Smith Captures One Stroke Lead In Lady Carling

BALTIMORE (AP) — Marilyn Smith, using a new putter, toured the Pine Ridge golf course in five-under-par 68 and took a one-stroke lead over Carol Mann Friday in the opening round of the $30,000 Lady Carling golf tournament.

Miss Smith had five birdies, four on the front nine, and missed a chance for another on the 18th green when she failed to sink a 3 1/2-foot putt.

After her round of 35-38 on the par 37-38-73 course, Miss Smith said the new putter had been given to her Thursday by a sporting goods salesman.

Averaging about 35 putts a round in previous tournaments, Miss Smith required just 31 in Thursday's Lady Carling program, and had only 29 Friday.

Miss Mann, a local favorite, said she was "very pleased and very tired" after shooting a 69, one stroke better than JoAnn Prentice and Kathy Ahern, who were tied for third place.

Sharon Miller and Gerda Boykin each shot 71, Clifford Ann Creed had 72 and Sally Little, Sayoko Yamazaki and Shelly Hamlin were tied for eighth place at 73.

Mueller MVP Pick For Preps

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Pitcher Barry Mueller, senior left hander who hurled Niles West to the state championship, was named Friday night most valuable player of the Illinois State High School Baseball Tournament.

Mueller was joined on the all-tournament team chosen by newsmen by teammate Blake Lorenz at second base. The unanimous choices were outfielder Mike Rahner of Alton who set a record of three triples, and pitcher Jeff Scott of Kankakee-Eastridge.

Others chosen were Tim Phillips, Marissa, first base; Randy Shearburn, Alton, third base; John Rockwell, Chicago-Lapeer, short stop; Bob Matzenbacher, Marissa, outfielder; Jeff Devine, East-ridge, outfielder; and Pat Jackson, Canton, catcher.

Frazier Dispels Recent Rumors

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Jolint' Joe Frazier took time from getting his "wheels" fixed to straighten out a few rumors. "I keep hearing from California that I won't fight in Los Angeles, because I got eye problems," Frazier said Friday.

"There isn't anything wrong with my eyes," said the heavy-weight champion. "Yancey Durham, Joe's manager and trainer don't want me to fight in Los Angeles. He's got some personal reasons. He doesn't like the rules or something."

Durham is in Spain and won't be back until June 10. Frazier was at a garage getting his automobiles and motorcycle worked on when he called a sports writer to get some things squared away.

"I will not climb into a ring until some promoter brings me a contract to fight one of the guys in the top ten," said smokin' Joe. "If it's Cassius Clay (Muhammad Ali) fine. Give me $3.5 million and I'm ready."

Joe explained some of the problems with his "wheels" and then said, "you know, I'm getting sick of some of these rumors. It's my blood pressure or my eyes. Tell those people that the only way they're going to get the title from me is to whip me. There ain't anybody can do that." Frazier said he didn't believe Ali wanted to meet him again. "He has no punch," said Joe. "He can't hurt anybody. That's why everybody wants to fight him and not me. But I'm ready. If it's George Foreman or Floyd Patterson, I don't care. Or anybody the public wants to see me fight."

Frazier said he was back in the gym working out, and planned to go to Beaufort, S.C., where he has a plantation. He's going to build a gymnasium there for the kids, and where he can work out when he's in the South.

How about the rumors he wants to quit the ring. "Nah, I don't want to quit," Frazier replied. "I don't have to quit. I like the money. The money is good. I can buy a lot of things, help a lot of people."

Frazier said he could quit without any financial worries. "My money has been invested wisely, not foolishly. My family is comfortable. There are trust funds for my kids. I don't have any organizations to support like you know who. I could make it on my own. I don't have to fight anymore," he said.

San Fernando 7-6 Victor Over SIU-E

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Randy Rasmussen's bases-loaded single with two outs in the bottom of the eighth inning powered San Fernando Valley State to a 7-6 victory over Southern Illinois-Edwardsville in the first game of the NCAA College Division World Series Friday night.

Rasmussen's drive into left field drove in two runs and helped bring Valley State back from a 6-4 deficit.

Charles Mandel opened the inning with a walk, then moved to second on a single by Louis Diaz. Walks to Pat Russell and Marty Friedman brought in one run. Rasmussen then connected to drive in the winning run.

Valley State jumped to an early 4-0 lead with a run in the second, two in the fourth and one in the fifth on a solo blast by Lyman Bostock.

SIU rallied for three runs in the seventh inning. The key hit was a two-run single by Mike Allaria. SIU tallied three more runs in the eighth for a 6-4 lead before Valley State rallied in

Blair, Orioles Top A's, Blue By 5-1 Spread

BALTIMORE (AP) — Paul Blair reached Oakland's Vida Blue for a home run and a double, driving in three runs, as the Baltimore Orioles whipped the A's 5-1 Friday night behind Jim Palmer.

Blair hit a leadoff homer in the fourth inning off Blue, making his second start after a prolonged holdout, and doubled for two more runs in the fifth after the Oakland ace issued three walks.

Center fielder George Hendricks got a late start on the two-out liner and then slipped and fell as he raced in to make the play, the ball falling at his feet.

Robby Grich, a surprise starter at third base for veteran Brooks Robinson, drove in two Baltimore runs—one off Blue in the second and another off reliever Joe Horlen in the sixth.

First baseman Boog Powell also was benched as Baltimore manager Earl Weaver started all right-handed hitters against Blue, but both he and Robinson entered the line-up in the seventh.

Blue, 0-2, was unofficially credited with 93 pitches during his five-inning stint, 59 of them strikes. He allowed four hits and struck out six.

Palmer, 6-3, permitted nine hits and gave up the A's only run on Dave Duncan's sacrifice fly in the ninth.

Hurtubise Hits Race Officials

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Add Jim Hurtubise's name to the list of drivers disgruntled with Saturday's Indianapolis 500-mile race.

Hurtubise was dropped from 16th to 23rd, and he's not happy about it. In fact, he says he may quit the U.S. Auto Club.

The popular driver was shoved down seven places because his car was hauled across the infield to the pits after running out of fuel during the race.

"They let me drive 200 miles, nearly half the race," Hurtubise said by telephone from his North Tonawanda, N.Y., garage. "I think there is a lot of straightening out needed in a lot of places. If they think I'm out there for my health they are mistaken."

Hurtubise said he "nearly had a fist fight" with track attendants who gave him a tow.

Chief steward Harlan Fongler told drivers at the pre-race meeting any car stalled on the track would have to go around the course, Hurtubise said.

Attendants told him he couldn't go around and hauled him across the infield to the pits, where the car was refueled and returned to the race.

NEW YORK (AP) — Phil Niekro tamed New York on three hits—all by John Milner—and Rico Carty ripped a three-run homer as the Atlanta Braves topped the Mets 6-1 Friday night.

Niekro gave up an infield hit to Milner in the second inning, a single to right in the seventh and a home run in the ninth enroute to his seventh victory in 11 decisions this season. He struck out seven while baffling the other Mets with his knuckleball.

The Braves then scored two more runs in the seventh on a sacrifice fly by Felix Millan and a run-scoring single by (4), Evans (7). New York, Mil-Garr. They added one more in the eighth on Darrell Evans' seventh homer of the season.

Cites Merger

Dolph Announces ABA Retirement

NEW YORK (AP) — Commissioner Jack Dolph of the American Basketball Association resigned Friday, pointing to the impending merger with the rival National Basketball Association as the critical factor.

"I believe," Dolph said in a prepared statement, "that a merger between the two leagues is only a matter of time and Walter Kennedy will be the commissioner of the single expanded league. It, therefore, behooves me to look to my own future and certain opportunities that are available to me at the present time."

Whether Dolph's statement implied that congressional sanction for the merger was imminent or that Dolph was just making an assumption was not known. Dolph was not available for comment beyond his statement.

But, in his statement, Dolph said he would actively aid the league in finding a replacement as commissioner when his resignation becomes effective at the end of the third year of his contract in October.

Dolph, who succeeded George Mikan as commissioner of the league formed in 1967, drew praise around the league from club officials.

"We recognize the contribution that Jack has made in the early years of the growth of the league—he should be commended for his accomplishments," said Carl Scheer, president of the Carolina Cougars.

"Jack has done a tremendous job in the three years he's been in the league," said Bob Vanatta, general manager of the Memphis Pros. "There are certainly a lot of pluses due to the commissioner's effort during this time."

Dolph, 44, took over the struggling ABA in October, 1969, after 19 years as a television executive at CBS. During his tenure the ABA gained national prominence, acquired a national television contract and battled the old, established NBA in a wild bidding war for player talent.

Dallas Chaparrals general manager Bob Briner said he wasn't surprised to hear of Dolph's resignation, given the "chaotic situation that exists in professional basketball today."

Evans Battles To Record Win In Decathlon

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Ron Evans, a 6-foot-2 junior from the University of Connecticut, scored well in the discus, javelin and 1,500-meter events Friday to win the NCAA decathlon, setting a meet record with 7,571 points.

Evans, who trailed first-day leader Andrew Pettis of Oklahoma by 44 points going into the final five events, fell further back on the first event of Friday's competition when Pettis ran the 110-meter high hurdles in 14.3 seconds for 927 points.

But the Connecticut entrant, with a previous lifetime best of 7,358 points, had a 147-2 discus throw, pole vaulted 13-9 and threw the javelin 202-1 before coming home in the 1,500-meter run in 4:37.8.

His score surpassed the NCAA meet mark of 7,456 set a year ago by Ray Hupp of Ohio State. The mark also qualifies Evans for the Olympic trials, to be held here next month.

Milt's High Praise For Middle America

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—I've come back a convert. In past visits to Middle America, I remember liking it and thinking it was okay. This time was different. I loved it. Primarily because of the people.

They don't claim to be perfect by any means. They told me and showed me they have their faults, even some little prejudices, like anybody else, but the great majority of Middle Americans I met manifested a refreshingly different spirit of fair-mindedness, not only toward those involved in sports but also toward all others involved in simply every day living.

I talked with baseball, football, basketball, boxing, horse racing, auto racing and even wrestling people in Middle America. I talked with the people on the street also and the one thing I came away with is that they're always willing to give someone else a chance. In my book, you can't ask much more than that.

During my travels through Indiana, Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska, I found out a number of things.

People in these states respect and admire their sports heroes but they don't stand there and drool over them like I've seen some people in other parts of the country do.

I found out Middle Americans are very helpful to strangers. They'll go out of their way.

I found out that if baseball really is dying, like some say, it's news to most of the people in Middle America. They told me they like baseball as much as they always have, and that's a lot.

I also found if you want a good meal, go to Omaha, Neb. You won't beat their steaks anywhere.

There is this naive notion among some in the East that "once you leave New York everything else is Hoboken" and that everything west of the Holland Tunnel is "a hick town," but they should visit a city like Omaha sometime.

It has its own Symphony Orchestra, Art Museum, Community Playhouse and Zoo. Also its own race track, boxing arena and professional baseball and hockey teams. The nation's No. 1 college football teams is only a few miles away.

There is a great interest on the part of Middle Americans regarding people in other parts of the country, a healthy interest.

Upon my return here, many likewise asked me about my impressions about people in Middle America. Among those who did was Billy Martin, the manager of the Detroit Tigers who comes from Oakland, Calif. He gave me his impressions of Middle Americans and I can't agree with him more completely.

"They're earthy people," Martin says. "You know, they call Middle America the 'breadbasket' of our country and that's what it really is. The people there have always impressed me by the way they treat you. In the East the people have a tendency to be pushy, and in the West they're a bit showy. I'm from the West Coast myself so maybe I can say that."

One of the most interesting cities I visited in Middle America was Burlington, Iowa. I found it clean, thriving and progressive.

The local ball club, the Burlington Bees, has a working agreement with the Oakland A's, and also has a pitcher who went through an experience which, in a way, explains how I feel about Middle America.

This pitcher's name is Sugar Bear Daniels, and maybe you've heard of him.

He's 18 and supposed to be the new right-handed Vida Blue. He was signed by the A's last year, given a $40,000 bonus and allowed to travel with the big league club as sort of a fringe benefit.

During last September's American League playoffs in Baltimore after Vida Blue had been beaten by the Orioles, Blue was called in and accused of having been out on the town the night before. Vida swore he hadn't been.

But Charlie Finley, the A's owner, told Blue people had seen him at the Playboy Club in Baltimore the night before having a high old time with some of the Bunnies and signing autographs. He had even signed his name "Vida Blue," Finley charged.

Blue insisted he had never been there, no matter what anybody said.

The culprit finally was discovered.

You guessed it. Sugar Bear Daniels.

"Why did you do me that way, Sugar Bear?" Blue asked him.

Sugar Bear Daniels looked beseechingly at Vida Blue and said: "I didn't mean anything. I just wanted to be somebody."

In Middle America, everybody is somebody.

The people there always give you that chance.

Pete Newell Named GM For Lakers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Pete Newell, a coach and executive for more than a quarter of a century, was named Friday as general manager of the National Basketball Association champion Los Angeles Lakers.

In making the announcement, owner Jack Kent Cooke said, "I think we are indeed fortunate to have such a knowledgeable and capable basketball man as Pete Newell join our championship organization."

Newell becomes the third Laker general manager since the club moved to Los Angeles from Minneapolis in 1960. He succeeds Fred Schaus, who resigned 12 days ago to become coach at Purdue University.

Schaus, former coach of the Lakers, had been general manager five years since taking over from the late Lou Mohs.

Newell has spent virtually his entire career in California, playing at Loyola University of Los Angeles and coaching at the University of San Francisco and the University of California at Berkeley. He was also head coach at Michigan State from 1951-54.

Newell was general manager of the San Diego Rockets of the NBA and served in an advisory capacity when the club moved to Houston. He resigned the latter post earlier this year.

Harry Groves, a native of Trenton, N.J., is in his fourth year as Penn State track and cross-country coach.

Every Thursday is Ladies Day at Delaware Park race track near Wilmington, Del. Admission is 20 cents. The meeting runs until Aug. 13.

Twenty-eight yearlings bought at Saratoga won 50 stakes races in the United States and Canada in 1971.

Pony League
Langdon Insurance downed Fireman 8-6 in the first game while Winchester whipped Police 10-2 in the second Pony League action Friday night.

Ed Lowe and Jim Blesse pounded doubles for Fireman, while Dale Robinson had a triple for the winners. The game, marred by 13 errors, saw Langdon take the early lead, only to have to regain it as Fireman scored three runs in the top of the fifth. Langdon scored three times in the bottom of the sixth to pull out the win.

Winchester, staying undefeated in league play, was assisted by seven extra base hits in downing Police. Roger Sparks led with a home run, while Brad Jefferson, Ray Long, Jim Bigelow and Brian Allen all hit triples. Dan Nicholson pitched a two hitter to guide his team to its third straight.

Gilbert Grabs 2nd Round Kemper Lead

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Slump-ridden Gibby Gilbert came from three strokes off the pace Friday with a five-under-par 67 and took the second-round lead in the $175,000 Kemper Open golf tournament.

The 31-year-old Gilbert, fighting a severe scoring drought all season, had a 36-hole score of 135—nine under par on the Quail Hollow Country Club course.

Gilbert, who has won only a little over $8,000 this season and isn't in the top 100 money winners, held a one-stroke lead over first-round leader Cesar Sanudo, Dave Hill and Billy Casper.

The longshot Sanudo slipped to a 71. Hill closed up with a flashy 66 and Casper carded a 70 despite bogeys on three of his last four holes.

Lee Trevino shot a 69 and was one of three at 138, three strokes back on the 7,278-yard course.

Trevino was tied with Labron Harris, who matched his 69, and Kermit Zarley, who shot a 67.

South African Gary Player, always one of the most dangerous players in the field, had a 68 for 139, four strokes back, and was tied with veteran Doug Sanders. Sanders, on one of the hottest streaks he's enjoyed in several years, also had a 68.

Arnold Palmer bogeyed four of five holes in one stretch on the back nine and had a 75-145. Gilbert, winner of the Houston-Champions International two years ago and a consistent money winner for the past three seasons, has been in a putting slump all season.

He credited a tip he got from Player, his playing partner in a round a week ago, with getting him straightened out.

"I hit some good shots and some bad shots," shrugged Hill, a perfectionist. He sank five putts in the 10-15 foot range and another from 20 feet. "I don't pay much attention to the leaders until the last nine holes of the last day," Hill said.

"I was coming in and I looked at a leader board. I discovered Casper had dropped three strokes while I was looking at the girls."

Casper had it six under par and appeared ready to make a rout of it until the veteran buried one under the lip of a trap and made the first of three consecutive bogeys.

Sanudo also had a chance to take the lead alone but bogeyed two in a row on the back nine when he said he became dizzy from the heat.

Jack Nicklaus is not competing. It took a score of 145 to make the cut for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday. Among

Wild Toss Lets California Nip Cleveland, 4-3

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ken McMullen clubbed a three-run homer and scored the decisive run on an eighth-inning wild pitch as the California Angels edged the faltering Cleveland Indians 4-3 Friday night.

Winless Vince Colbert, suffering his third loss, hit Vada Pinson with a pitch to open the fourth inning, then Bob Oliver singled before McMullen smacked his first homer of the year into the lower left field stands.

In the eighth, Oliver singled off reliever Phil Hennigan and took second on a wild pitch. McMullen followed with a single to right but Buddy Bell's throw nailed Oliver at the plate, with McMullen taking second on the play.

Leroy Stanton's grounder moved McMullen to third and he came home on Hennigan's second wild pitch, giving the Angels their fourth victory in a row and seventh in eight games. The Indians have lost eight of the last nine.

Clyde Wright went seven innings, scattering seven hits, to raise his record to 4-2 before the Indians finally broke through for all their runs against two California relievers in the eighth.

Fishing News Notes

By DICK SELLARS

Fishing top water lures can be one of the most exciting lures to fish. I like a top water lure that has a propeller like blade on each end of it, which attracts fish by noise as well as by action. This type of lure is very effective, early in the morning and late in the evening on shallow points and can be most effective when used, when fish are chasing shad on the surface of a lake. When you see fish breaking surface throw right at that spot where they break the water. Sometimes a fish will hit right then so be ready at all times. If not let the lure set until all ripples on the water are gone, then take out the slack in the line and snap the rod tip with a short sharp jerk, then let it set again, let all ripples go away again. If nothing happens, I usually give short jerks all the way to the boat. Sometimes it is wise to let it set by the boat a second before lifting to throw again. I have often had fish hit at different times even when lifting out of the water. It takes a lot of patience to use a surface lure the right way. The slower you fish it the more effective it can sometimes be. If there is a wind it is not nearly as effective as on a calm day. I have seen fishermen be so stunned when they get a strike they forgot to set the hook. Be ready at all times. Keep enough slack out of your line to not move the lure, but be ready for a strike. Quick reflexes are a must for fishing this type of surface lure.

Jacksonville Bass Club will meet at the Ranch House this Sunday morning at 5:30 a.m. We will have our first match by fishing the Taylorville Club at Sanceris Lake near Kincaid. All those wanting to go, please let me know, so we will have plenty of boats ready and waiting.

Business Mirror

NEW YORK (AP)—The board of directors, as constituted in many companies "is an anomaly bordering on an absurdity... it is an appendage rather than governing head... it reigns rather than rules."

The statements are derived from an analysis by Dr. Eugene Jennings of Michigan State University that accompanied a survey of what is described as the 40 top companies in the Fortune magazine list of 500 largest industrials.

Jennings doesn't claim that these successful companies have permitted their boards to become mere appendages, but he claims that many corporations, including famous ones, are guilty of that lapse. They are, he says, immature.

Successful directors today are anxious to determine their proper function and purpose, especially after the sudden troubles that have endangered giants such as Penn-Central. But that anxiety, Jennings suggests, is recent.

Not long ago, he says, "the directors were selected to grace the corporate image." Their names and sometimes their presence lent prestige to a company. Their services otherwise were almost irrelevant.

There was—and still is in many companies—the attitude that the board should be an exclusive club of successful chaps who maintained a discreet and easy conviviality that originated years earlier in an Ivy League school.

The survey, by Earle Brown & Associates for the executive search firm of Lamalle Associates, also shows: They are directors of five other organizations, 59 years old, in their 11th year as a director, are paid between $2,000 and $10,000 a year.

Despite their somewhat passive role in the past, Jennings believed that the role of directors is growing in importance as American business matures. The first stage of maturity was manufacturing, the second managerial. The third and final stage of maturity, he states, is corporate government, in which the focus of responsibility broadens enormously.

Jennings, a management professor and consultant to blue-chip companies, claims that the whole corporation—employees, managers, directors—must be made more responsive to the reality of the world today—a reality that includes not only profits but consumerism, women's rights, environmental pollution and so on.

These are issues that will require the director to speak up. The president may be challenged by a board that recognizes the need to be responsive, to be mature.

During this period of transformation there will be great stress in the board room, Jennings states.

"The president will know by the noise... when he is entering Stage Three maturity." And he adds: "For many a chief executive it is later than he cares to think."

Money In Old Books

By CARLTON SMITH

Countless attics, basements, trunks and boxes contain unsuspected "gold" in the form of valuable books. Not books of great value, except in rare instances, but there's nothing wrong with finding a few $20 bills by just looking in the right places.

These modest treasure troves are seldom converted to cash because of the misconceptions most people have about the kinds of books for which there's a market. First editions of famous authors are one kind for which collectors often pay handsomely, but you aren't likely to find many of these lying around in your attic—or a Gutenberg Bible, either.

There's another whole world of moderately rare and moderately valuable books, though, that are to be found in many an attic. You just have to know what to look for.

Suppose that you found, back there behind the old trunk with the broken hinges, a book entitled "A Descriptive Review of the Industries of Walla Walla," published somewhere in 1891. Well, we'd better throw that one away; by no stretch of the imagination could that be of interest or value to anyone—right? The next item you come to is "Report of the Commissioner of Public Buildings," Madison, Wis., 1842. The junk pile for that one, too, of course.

Don't look now, but you just threw out $105 worth of books. You can find, in recent dealers' catalogues, the Walla Walla book listed at $60, and the commissioner's report at $45.

It's books of this type, known in the trade as "Americana," that are most apt to reward searchers of attics and basements—and most apt to be passed over or thrown out as worthless junk. Old grandpas buy one of those "county atlases" or histories so widely sold toward the end of the century? Dealers list them today at $25 to $60.

This is not to say that everything published in the 19th century is "Americana," and of value. Neither does age, by itself, make a book rare or valuable. Van Allen Bradley, whose book, "Gold in Your Attic," has been the amateur collector's guide for 14 years, cites as an example a book of flowers and fruit prints, published in 1940, now scarce and selling a few years ago, for up to $350.

On the other hand, Bibles have always been produced in such profusion that even 15th-century printings are fairly common and worth little.

Bradley's book, first published in 1958, almost became a rare book itself before an updated version, "The New Gold in Your Attic," came out a decade later. This recently became available in paperback for the first time (Arc Books, $1.95), and probably will set off a new wave of prospecting for the Bradley brand of gold in the nation's attics and basements.

This prospector's manual includes an alphabetical, descriptive list of 2,500 books with a value of $25 or more, as established by auction prices or in dealers' catalogues. If you're willing to settle for lesser amounts of gold, there are, Bradley says, "tens of thousands of mildly valuable books"—under $25—which are the ones more apt to turn up in your attic.

Or, of course, it's not completely outside the bounds of possibility that you'll have the luck of one Charles P. Everett, who picked a volume out of a pile of bookstore junk in 1926 and sold it to a wealthy collector for $25,000. And then, there was—

Hey, where are you going? Oh, to the attic, you say.

- WORKING WIFE
Betty Ackerman, who portrays Constance Carson in NBC-TV's daytime drama, "Return to Peyton Place," worked in most of the first 11 episodes of the series—often 12 hours a day. "Sam didn't like it a bit," she says, referring to her actor-husband Sam Jaffe. "He threatened to picket the studio if they didn't give me some time off."

Without The 'Puff' You Have Nothing! Ogilvie Tells GOP

By JOHN B. MARTIN

Governor Richard Ogilvie Friday night criticized his Democrat opponent in the November general election in strong terms during a speech before a packed house of Republicans at MacMurray dining hall.

"When you strip away the phony claims and campaign rhetoric... you have nothing left!" the Governor charged. "I'm sure the voters will see through this blizzard of words."

Ogilvie was commenting on recent claims to cut state spending by his opponent, Dan Walker. Gov. Ogilvie said his opponent had "ample opportunity" to explain his position but has thus far declined to appear before an audience and make any kind of recommendations.

Ogilvie contended that his administration has a substantial record of achievement to show the people of Illinois.

He cited roads in Morgan county as a part of his state-wide program of improving local roads. Most of the major highways in Morgan county have had some type of improvement during the past three years, "about twelve times that amount improved in the previous eight years." He also mentioned the West Central Illinois Expressway as a project which will be in the construction phase soon.

"Morgan County is losing population, I'm told... I think we can turn that around with the construction of better and improved roads which will be used to carry manufactured goods and raw materials to and from markets."

He also cited a vast increase in state aid to private colleges, Illinois and MacMurray Colleges, as well as the common schools whose share of state aid in Morgan county has jumped from $1.3 million to $3.3 million in the past three years.

Local Finances
He said municipal government has been able to "keep the lid" on local taxes primarily because of the city share of the income tax and the sales tax. "I believe local problems should be solved at the local level," he said, "which is why these funds are returned to municipalities to spend as they see fit."

Ogilvie said he had recommended that all taxpayers pay their personal property under protest this year. He said the Illinois personal tax law is under consideration by the U.S. Supreme Court. "When this case is decided, it could mean a return for millions of taxpayers," he said, "and they deserve some relief... now."

The Governor placed strong emphasis in electing a Republican senator and two members of the house "to eliminate the stalemate that now exists."

Neither party presently has a constitutional majority. "You can make the difference," he said, "by urging members of your family and your friends to go to the polls this November. We Republicans are in the minority and every vote is important in every precinct."

Commenting on the Republican slate of state officers he said James Nowlan, his running mate for Lt. Governor, would serve as his right-hand man. "And I deserve a strong right arm after what I've put up with these past three years."

He said only three of the five state candidates on the other party have ever been elected to public office.

The $15 a plate Republican fund raising dinner was held in the MacMurray dining hall on the MacMurray campus. The dining hall was packed for the 12th annual dinner with what Harris Rowe described as "the largest crowd ever."

Rowe served as master of ceremonies for the evening. Edmund J. Kucharski, candidate for secretary of state and now serving as assistant secretary of state, said he is running on his record of 25 years of public service. "It's too late for promises... my record is there for everyone to see," he said. Kucharski has beaten the most powerful Democratic machine in the nation four times in Cook county. He last served as Cook County Treasurer.

Kucharski and Ogilvie were accompanied by their wives to the Jacksonville dinner.

Republican candidates for state representative Thomas C. Rose of Jacksonville and Clyde W. Bauros of Bluffs as well as A. C. "Junie" Bertulis of Benld, candidate for state senator, attended.

Republican candidates for county office and Republican city and county officers were introduced along with a number of other special guests from neighboring counties.

Proceeds from the fund-raising effort will be used to assist Republican candidates in the fall election.

Election Day Liquor Sales Bill Signed

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie ended the controversy over liquor sales on election day in most of Illinois Friday by signing a bill to allow taverns to stay open during balloting.

But legal experts say that local governments granted home rule power under the 1970 Illinois Constitution still may enact ordinances to bar the sale of alcoholic beverages while voting is in progress.

A controversy erupted in elections this spring over whether tavern owners could keep their establishments in operation on election day.

The legislature last session dropped a ban on liquor sales from the election code but left a similar prohibition in the liquor law unchanged.

Sponsored by Rep. John Matjevich, D-North Chicago, the new law strikes the ban from the liquor laws.

The measure takes effect July 1.

UNITED METHODISTS OPPOSE LOTTERY

LEBANON, Ill. (AP) — The United Methodist Southern Illinois Conference has adopted a resolution "unilaterally opposing" the proposed Illinois state lottery.

The resolution, adopted Friday at the group's annual convention, was offered by the Rev. Donald Carlton of Effingham.

The resolution directed the conference secretary to write to Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, urging him to veto any lottery measure that might be passed by the legislature.

Set Kerner Trial For November 15

CHICAGO (AP) — The trial of former Gov. Otto Kerner and four co-defendants accused of conspiracy and bribery in race track stock transactions was set Friday for Nov. 15.

Judge Robert L. Taylor of U.S. District Court arrived at the date in closed door consultation with government and defense attorneys.

The indictments were returned by a federal grand jury in December against Kerner; Theodore J. Isaacs, his state revenue director; William Miller, racing board chairman under Kerner; Joseph Knight, state director of financial institutions in the Kerner administration; and Faith McInturf, Miller's secretary.

Taylor completed three days of pre-trial hearings into motions by the defense to suppress the indictments. Before going into closed session, Taylor took under advisement three additional pre-trial motions:

—Kerner asked that charges of giving false statements to federal agents be dropped because the original notes have been destroyed.

—Isaacs asked that all charges against him be dismissed because, he claimed, Internal Revenue agents did not tell him of his right to remain silent.

—Knight asked that charges against him be dropped because, he argued, he was called before the federal grand jury only to make incriminating statements.

Driver Injured Early Friday North Of City

A Scott county woman was rushed to Passavant hospital by ambulance following an accident on Route 78 two miles north of Jacksonville about 7:45 a.m. Friday.

Mrs. Ruth A. Bettis, 28, of Riggsford suffered injuries not believed to be serious.

Investigating state police said Mrs. Bettis was southbound on Route 78, and attempting to pass a second auto driven by Lloyd A. Zimmer, 72, of Route 1, Jacksonville, and an unidentified auto ahead of him. Zimmer also pulled out to pass. The Bettis auto collided with the left rear of the Zimmer auto as Mrs. Bettis applied the brakes and pulled to the left. Her auto overturned in the process and had to be towed from the scene.

On other topics, Ogilvie refused to take a stand on the proposed state lottery approved Thursday by the Illinois House.

"Previously I have expressed a reluctance to rely on gambling as a means to finance the expenses of state government," Ogilvie said. "Now I would prefer to wait and see if the bill passes the legislature and in what form it gets to me."

Those who favor a lottery, which would be similar to ones already operating in New York, New Jersey and other states, said it would bring $100 million a year in desperately needed revenue. But opponents argue that financing state government through gambling is "moral leprosy."

Ogilvie said he remains optimistic on chances for passage by the General Assembly of his proposed $561 million capital development bond plan. The bill has come under fire from House Democrats.

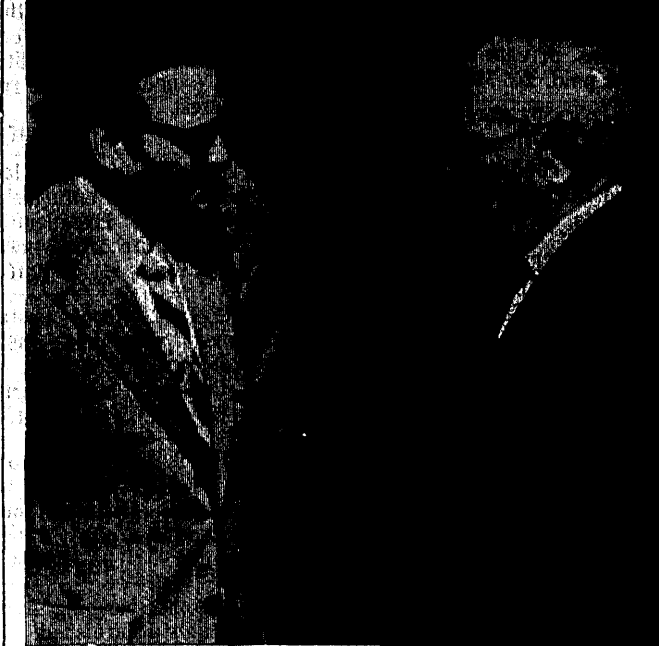

"The merits of that legislation will be more and more appreciated as the days go by," Ogilvie said.

"One alternative clearly would be that we won't be building anything," he said, a

Ogilvie May Review Walker Debate Plan

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie said Thursday that he may reconsider his willingness to debate Democratic gubernatorial candidate Daniel J. Walker.

At a news conference, Ogilvie was asked about the planned debates and replied that "if we're not going to educate people there's no point in having them."

A Walker spokesman, reached by telephone, said the Chicago attorney would have no immediate comment. But he added he "hoped that the governor is not changing his mind about his promise to debate Dan around the state."

Ogilvie and Walker are scheduled to meet in the second debate of their gubernatorial campaign Saturday at a Chicago convention of the Independent Voters of Illinois.

The governor said he would gauge his decision on whether to continue debating on the basis of that meeting. He added that in his opinion, "we did not resolve any issue in our first encounter."

In that meeting, May 5, Walker launched a series of broad attacks on Ogilvie, charging him with wasting tax money and failing to state publicly that he did not "condone" ownership of horse and harness racing stock by Republican State Sen. Arthur Bidwell.

Ogilvie was asked if he considered Walker's tactics "fair." He replied that he did not "want to characterize them as fair or unfair."

Ogilvie said he did so to help any taxpayers who lack advice from skilled tax consultants to collect personal property tax rebates if the U.S. Supreme Court wipes the levy off the books. A case that could achieve that result is pending now.

"It's a legal right of theirs (taxpayers) and I thought they should be informed of it," Ogilvie added.

The governor was doubtful about efforts in the legislature to increase the amount of money available for state aid to elementary and high schools from the current $700 million level.

"Until we get rid of the problem of welfare we won't have more money for schools," he said. "I have a constitutional duty to balance the budget."

Fined Friday In Circuit Court

Judge Gordon Seator assessed fines for six defendants Friday afternoon in Morgan county circuit court.

Byron E. Stewart, 21, of 857 North Prairie, pleaded guilty to a charge of no valid driver's license and was ordered to pay a fine of $100 and $10 costs.

Larry E. Trowbridge, 23, of 811 East Washington was charged with permitting an unauthorized person to drive a vehicle. Judge Seator accepted his plea of guilty and assessed a fine of $25 and $10 costs.

Trowbridge appeared on another charge of disorderly conduct with companion defendant Raymond J. Dorris, 20, of route three, Jacksonville, charged in the same case. Each was assessed a fine of $50 and $15 costs on his plea of guilty.

Two ISD students pleaded guilty to charges of theft under $150. Althea P. Rembert, 18, and Carolyn Livingston, 18, appeared before Judge Seator with an interpreter from ISD and were ordered to pay fines of $20 and $15 costs each.

Charges stemmed from a shoplifting incident at Tempo June 1. Lawrence C. Tapscott, 23, of Decatur was in circuit court for a requested bench trial on a charge of disobeying a police officer. Following testimony by the arresting state trooper and the defendant, the court issued a verdict of guilty. Tapscott was ordered to pay a fine of $50 and $10 costs.

Appearing before court for the first time on a charge of illegal transportation of liquor, Tapscott entered a plea of not guilty. He requested a trial without jury which was set for June 16.

FOUR ACCIDENTS HERE FRIDAY

City policemen investigated four minor traffic collisions Friday.

About 10:30 p.m., cars driven by Donna M. Mills, 17, of 1837 Lakeview, and John C. Aring, 16, of 233 Finley, collided at the intersection of South Fayette and West Morgan streets.

A car driven by Viola M. Howard, 52, of 2018 Mount Ave., struck a utility pole in the 700 block of South Church St. about 3 p.m. Mrs. Howard told policemen that she apparently fainted while driving.

Officers said the Surratt auto was eastbound on Morton, near the Jack's Discount drive, when it struck in the rear a stopped car driven by Clifford L. Gillis, 84, of R.R. 1 Jacksonville.

Paul Zeigler Indicted For Tax Evasion

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — A federal grand jury indicted former Illinois State Sen. Paul Zeigler Friday on a charge of evading income taxes in 1970.

The Carmi Democrat was accused in the indictment of reporting a taxable income of $8,000.37 for the year 1970, even though he knew the correct figure to be $16,524.37.

In a statement, the Internal Revenue Service charged that the additional money was part of a $17,000 capital gain from the sale of stock in the Washington Park Trotting Association.

Zeigler was employed by the late Secretary of State Paul Powell in the archives division from 1967 until November 1970. It was also in 1970 that he tried to make a comeback in a race from the state Senate.

He served three terms in the House and five in the Senate, ending in 1965.

Specifically, the two-count indictment charged Zeigler with income tax evasion and subscribing to a 1970 income tax statement which he did not believe to be true.

The case was presented to the grand jury by Assistant U.S. District Atty. Jack A.

Strellis on the basis of evidence gathered by the intelligence section of the Internal Revenue Service.

Indictments against Sen. Bernard S. Neistein, D-Chicago, and former Sen. Everett Peters, R-St. Joseph, are pending in Springfield as a result of the racing stock controversy. Other charges are on file in U.S. District Court in Chicago against former Gov. Otto Kerner and other political figures involved in the probe of track and racing association ownership.

Zeigler was convicted of perjury earlier in the year for lying to a federal grand jury investigating Illinois race track stock dealings. He told the jury he forgot the circumstances in a transaction involving $15,000 allegedly loaned to him to buy the Washington Park stock. He later sold the stock to a person, whom, he said, he could not remember.

He was sentenced Feb. 29 by U.S. District Court Judge Hubert Will to six months in prison, fined $1,000 and was placed on two and a half years probation.

Zeigler is currently confined to the federal prison at Sandstone, Minn.

Set Public Hearing On Open Burning Law

The City of Springfield will receive a public hearing Monday, June 5, at 9:30 a.m. at the Illinois State Fairgrounds, in the Illinois Building auditorium for the purpose of presenting the city's request for a variance from enforcement on the ban against open burning.

Jacksonville city officials have asked the city attorney to seek similar action and may attract some interest from local officials.

If the one year variance to permit the burning of leaves, paper and other innocuous materials is granted to the City of Springfield, that city will investigate the alternatives to open burning.

Such alternatives, according to Environmental Coordinator James M. Henneberry, might include an analysis, investigation and demonstration of city-wide compost piles where leaves and other landscape waste would be turned into compost and sold at minimum prices for fertilizer.

Other elements of the city's program might include field testing and demonstration of equipment and other alternatives to open burning such as recycling waste products generated by single family residences.

Individual citizens and public officials from communities in the Central Illinois area who may wish to participate in the hearing before the Illinois Pollution Control Board are invited to contact Henneberry by phone at 789-2144.

Henneberry emphasized that if the Variance was granted only leaves, paper and other similar domestic waste generated on the premises of single family dwellings could be burned.

The burning of garbage and any toxic materials and other similar waste products would continue to be prohibited and the existing provisions of the city code in connection with the open burning would still be in full force and effect.

Jacksonville has been interested in securing a similar variance to the open burning law for a variety of reasons. Primarily, the sheer bulk of leaves creates problems for the street department as well as the landfill operator under contract with the city. The cost of collecting leaves is another problem with which the city must cope.
